CS 181: Professor Amit Sahai: Honor Code

1) I agree to follow the following rules concerning homework and problem sets:
   a. When formulating an approach to the problems I am given, I am allowed to ask the TA for help, and to collaborate with my fellow UCLA students, and I will acknowledge in writing the names of every person with whom I collaborated on my work.
      I understand that collaboration and forming study groups is encouraged, and that my grade will not suffer if I acknowledge help from other students.
   b. When writing down my solutions, I will do so on my own, without the help of any other person or any other student’s written notes or solutions. After I have written my solution in full, I may ask in good faith for comments from my fellow students or TA, and I may make use of these comments to improve my writeup. I will acknowledge in writing the names of all those who provided me with help.
   c. Since the primary purpose of this course is to teach me new ways of thinking and to give me experience in attacking problems and formulating mathematical proofs, I will not seek out or make use of any outside source of information, including but not limited to: any information found online (except on the course website), other textbooks or articles. If necessary, I may ask for permission in advance from the TA to deviate from this rule. The textbook for the course (Sipser) and my own notes are exempted from this rule.

2) I agree to follow the following rules concerning exams:
   a. I understand that exams will be open-book and open-notes.
   b. I agree to adhere to the time limits set forth in the exams.
   c. I will not seek out, offer, or accept help from any other person (except the professor or TA) during the exams. I understand that collaboration is not permitted on exams in any form. I will not communicate with anyone (except the professor or TA) about any 181-related subject matter during the exam period, unless I have permission from the professor or TA.

3) I understand that I may be suspended from UCLA for violating this honor code, and that suspension from UCLA, and other penalties, have resulted from violations of the CS 181 honor code in the past.

4) If I have difficulty with understanding lectures or the book due to difficulty with the English language, or if someone asks for my help because of difficulties with language, I will discuss the situation with the professor or TA as soon as possible, to ensure that the honor code is upheld.

5) I will follow these rules in good faith, and not try to find “loopholes” that violate the spirit of the rules. If I am unsure about what the spirit of the rule is or what a rule means, then I will ask for clarification from the professor or the TA, and I will adhere to the rules as clarified.

KEEP THE CS 181 HONOR CODE FOR YOUR RECORDS.

I, __________________________________________[print name and UID], give my word and pledge my honor that I will follow the CS 181 honor code.
Signed,
